

Transitioning Into the Common Core: Bridging the Gaps

Drawing from his real-world work with districts across the country and the most up-to-date research on college readiness, Dr. Kist can facilitate your curriculum and instruction transition into the 21st century. A process of revision that works from models provided by the Common Core, Partnership for 21st Century Skills and the ACT College Readiness Standards will be followed and embedded with many “real world” examples of multi-modal assignments and assessments. Your district will come out of the experience with a revitalized curriculum document and also a variety of possibilities for infusing new literacies across all subject areas.
